

Troop 65049 receives 'Outstanding Green Activists' award

Easton Junior Troop 65049 was selected to receive the Greenschools "Green Difference Award" in the category "Outstanding Green Activists."

Easton Junior Troop 65049 was selected based upon:

1. Their committed effort to information-gathering and understanding the concept of "energy" as a part of their "It's Your World: Love It!" Girl Scout Journey;
2. Their enlistment of professionals to further enhance the learning experience by education and brainstorming actions for change. Guests included Easton Selectman Colleen Corona, Nutritionist Nicole Cormier, Greenschools Director Robin Organ and others; and
3. Their initiative to take action by preparing to host a linen drive in their town; reusing plastic water bottles as art for an art show, preparing "energy audits," participating in a "lights out" challenge, and more.

This year's Green Difference Awards will be held Monday, May 23 at Mansfield High School, 250 East St., Mansfield.
